WHEN A VILLAGE LOST ITS HEAD DURING WAR TIMES

BERLIN, OTTAWA COUNTY, WAS CHANGED TO MARNE

During the great war when a German was hated about as much as a snake by some of the rattle heads, and even some of the staid old Germans who had helped build up this country and were naturalized citizens were often insulted and subjected to many indignities that hotheads might foist upon them, a great many things were done that folks are afterward sorry for.

In Ottawa county there is a town by the name of Berlin made famous, by its fair, and in earlier days by its road houses. This little village of Berlin also got wild over the war, in fact so much so that the name of the city had to be changed immediately for no town of theirs must have any semblance of anything German and especially not the capital of Germany where the hated Kaiser lived.

It seems however that the citizens did not take into consideration that the town might have derived its name from some other source than the "Fatherland."

While attending the Western Michigan Tourists' convention at Grand Rapids the writer ran across an old gentleman named I. W. Stanley, who formerly lived in Berlin, and while in a reminiscent mood, the subject of Berlin changing its name to Marne came up.

Stanley vouched for the fact that Berlin, Ottawa county was not named after the capital of Germany, but after Mr. Berlin, who pioneered in that section of Ottawa county in the earlier days and was a leading figure when the village was started. So much so, in fact, that the citizens then living there thought that the pioneer should be recognized for his efforts and named the then small village in his honor.

What is more, the Berlin who founded the Ottawa county village was not a German, but a French-Canadian without a drop of German blood.

The directors of the Berlin fair during the war were apparently not carried away, for they were bound to keep the name the same.

There is only one Berlin fair and a Marne fair is out of the question. The Berlin bankers were also sensible, as bankers generally are, and the sign over the door is still "The Berlin Bank."

Not alone were some of the Berlin people silly in making the change, but if the story of Mr. Stanley is true, they have been unjust to the Mr. Berlin, the French-Canadian, who founded the city, and who no doubt if he had been living would have fought against the Kaiser's hordes.

BIDS WILL SOON BE LET FOR OTTAWA BEACH ROAD

BIDS WILL ALSO BE ACCEPTED FRIDAY FOR THE ZEELAND-HUDSONVILLE STRETCH

Bids will soon be accepted for a mile and a half stretch of road from Ottawa Beach to the south to the School house on the Alpena road north. This will connect up the last link of poor road with this popular resort.

The road is to be built of concrete and will be built as far as the new stretch of concrete built along the lake front by the Ottawa Beach Resort association.

This practically makes a complete concrete highway from Holland to Ottawa Beach.

Bids will also be accepted Friday for the stretch of road between Zeeland and Hudsonville which when completed to Grand Rapids will shorten the distance approximately 3 miles.

PROPOSED SEWER IS PROJECT FOR WHOLE CITY

Now that the question of voting a bond issue for a new storm sewer at a cost of $42,250 has been brought before the people and the near approach of the special election has caused many to give some attention to the subject, questions about the proposed sewer are beginning to be asked. The special election is next Monday, voting to take place in all the polling places in the city. It has been hard to arouse any sort of an interest in the coming special election, most people seeming to think that it is a matter that does not concern them. But it does concern every citizen of Holland because everyone will be asked to help pay for it, if the bond issue passes; or on the other hand, if it does not pass, every citizen will be asked to help foot the bill in case the present tannery creek culvert should give way, as it may at any moment, and flood the property in that part of the city, perhaps destroying more property than the cost of the new sewer.

One objection that has been raised to the new sewer, is that the argument is made that the property owners in that part of the city should foot the bill. It is pointed out that the other sewers are paid for by property owners and that the same course should be followed here.

But that is a misapprehension. The proposed sewer is not an ordinary sewer such as is dug along the streets of the city to take care of the refuse of the homes. It is a storm sewer exclusively, and all storm sewers in the city are paid for by the city at large. As the area of paving increases more and more storm sewers are needed to take care of the water, and these sewers are put in by all the people.

Because of the large increase in the area of paving in that section of the city, the tannery creek cannot take care of the water any longer, and the excess water must be taken care of in some way. The proposed new storm sewer will do it and prevent possible damage. It is a problem that must be solved and cannot be ignored.

SUGAR FACTORY STARTS ITS ANNUAL CAMPAIGN MONDAY

HEAVY RAINS DELAY START FOR TEN DAYS

Beet Sugar Industry Has Interesting History; Begun By Napoleon, the Great

A glance up 14th street west will present to view the highest smoke stack in Holland. This large pile of brick and mortar goes up skyward 125 feet. It is the new stack of the Holland-St. Louis Sugar Co., and was placed to take care of a battery of new type self-stoker boilers, which is to save the company an immense lot of money on fuel and labor. This is a much needed improvement and Manager C. M. McLean believes in nothing but the best.

Fires will be started under the new boilers Monday morning for the first time and then the sugar campaign will be on, possibly until the middle of January, as the crop this year is at least 50 per cent larger than that of last year.

Slicing would have been started more than a week ago but for the heavy rains which delayed starting up for at least ten days.

Beets have been tested here and there in this community and while the sugar content is very satisfactory, Sears McLean states that the content will be growing better and better as the season advances, which all helps the farmer who grows the beets.

Everyone around the local factory on his toes waiting for the start Monday. After that it will be night and day work until the season closes in January.

The history of sugar making from beets is unusually interesting, and dates back from the Napoleonic war.

When, a little over a century ago Napoleon, owing to the blockade which isolated him from the markets of the world, set his scientists to experimenting on the production of sugar from beets, he builded better than he ever dreamed. The discovery of sugar in the beet, made by a German chemist in 1714, formed the basis of the conqueror's enterprise. As soon as the experiments had proved the commercial feasibility he ordered the erection and operation of ten factories to supply France with the sugar she so badly needed, but could not import. The necessity which forced this Napoleonic contribution to the world's larder is now proving itself a great boon; for even now more beet sugar is produced and consumed the world over than is made from cane.

Attempts to set up sugar beet factories in the eastern states of America have so far proved abortive. Of the 85 sugar beet plants now operating successfully in the United States, 24 are located east of the Mississippi. Of these 24, sixteen are located in Michigan. When we consider the fact that the sugar bowls of our sweet-toothed country can be kept full only by importing more sugar each year than could be supplied by three hundred factories running full blast continuously, we begin to realize the present potential value of the beet sugar industry to the economy of our state.

It cannot, therefore, but be of interest to know something of the operations entailed in the conduct of this important factor in Michigan's industrial life. It is even of greater interest to realize how intimately connected the success of our sugar beet industry is with that other plant factor of Michigan's growth, the railroad, which after all, are the good gentils serving all the industries in their development to success.

It is in no way a mere picturesque exaggeration to say that but for the service mobilization of the railroads each season, the sugar beet industry in Michigan would be a partial impossibility; for the success of the sugar beet farmer in marketing his sugar bearing roots lies in the quick handling and delivery of his precious mangels before a too sudden change in weather alters the sugar content and makes the beets unsalable once the frost has changed them.

The belt in which beets best thrive and mature to commercial sugar content in Michigan lies chiefly in the counties of Bay, Tuscola, Saginaw, Gladwin, Midland, and Arenac. The principal centers to which beets are hauled from these producing counties are: Bay City, where the Michigan Sugar Co. has a slicing capacity of 1400 tons per day; the West Bay City Sugar Company with an 800 tons per day capacity; the Columbia Sugar Co., 1,500 tons per day. The other important sugar plants are located at Alma, 1,200 tons per day; Saginaw, 1,200 tons; St. Louis, 800 tons; Benton Harbor, 700 tons; Crosswell, 1,000 tons; Caro, 1,200 tons; Sebewaing, 900 tons; Marine City, 600 tons; Owosso, 1,400 tons; Lansing, 800 tons; Mt. Clemens, 700 tons; Menominee, 900 tons; Holland, 600 tons. These sixteen principal plants have a total daily capacity, of 15,700 tons of beets sliced during the delivery season, which extends from October 1 to January 1.

It is no small problem to handle this immense tonnage day by day till the last load of beets is sliced and ready for its bath of limewater and sulphur. A total 9,915 cars, each car loaded to its capacity of 30 tons, will be required to garner this year's sugar crop. This would make a string of cars reaching 70 miles, the distance from Detroit to five miles beyond the city line of Flint.

To mobilize this vast array of carriers involves a marshaling of transportation units from practically all directions of the railroad compass, even as far as beyond Toledo and to the north as far as Marquette. It means a complete rearrangement of freight cuttings with a view to making empty cars available in a constant flow to the beet country. The beets are collected from 137 different points, the number of cars from each of these points running from five to 153; that is 270 to 4,400 tons for each station.

At this year's contract price of $7 per ton this means a revenue to the farmers using these shipping points, ranging from $1,890 to $31,290. It means $1,982,150 put into the pockets of Michigan growers through the elaborate and painstaking service of the railroads. For of the entire beet crop barely 5 per cent is brought by the farmer directly to the factory.

DR. FRED BROUWER DIES SUDDENLY IN GRAND RAPIDS

WELL KNOWN VETERINARIAN PASSES AWAY EARLY ON THURSDAY MORNING

Dr. Fred Brouwer, veterinary surgeon and well known automobile salesman, died at about 5 o'clock Thursday morning at the Blodgett Memorial hospital in Grand Rapids. Death came unexpectedly and his relatives and friends were not prepared for it. Dr. Brouwer submitted to an operation about a week ago and it was successful. To all appearances he was on the road to recovery, but there seems to have been a sudden turn during the night that ended in death. As late as 2:30 in the morning the nurse visited him and found him resting easily and apparently in as good a state of health as could be expected. At 5 o'clock he had passed away.

Dr. Brouwer was born in East Saugatuck and he has lived in this community all his life. For many years he was one of the leading veterinarians in this section, but of late years he had given a great deal of attention to the automobile business, being connected with the firm of Holleman-DeWeerd. He is survived by his wife and two brothers, Gerrit J. and John both of Grand Rapids. The arrangements for the funeral have not yet been announced.

HOLLAND INTERURBAN GIVES SPECIAL RATES TO KALAMAZOO

The Michigan Railway will give a special reduction from Holland to Kalamazoo on October 29 and 30 during the State Teachers convention. Limited to return October 30. The round trip fare will be $3.63.

Special trains will leave Holland at 6:45 a. m. and no doubt many Holland and Zeeland folks will avail themselves of this opportunity, not only to attend the teachers' convention, but also to visit the Celery City.

HINGA WORKS TEAM HARD FOR SOUTH GAME

TOUGHEST Foe OF THE SEASON WILL BE MET

Grand Rapids South is the strongest team that Holland will meet this season, and both Coach Hinga and the first squad are determined that South shall know that she has been in a strenuous game, after the smokes of Kalamazoo has cleared away from Island Park.

There are a few things however, that still worries Hinga. Smith, star quarterback and a player who is very fleet of foot, is out with a broken collar bone. He will be out until the Grand Haven game two weeks hence. Masselink, the gritty end, has dislocated his elbow, and Hinga thinks this will keep him on the bench Saturday either Hill or Van Zanten will be likely to fill his berth, the plumb being given to the one who shows up best in the daily workouts.

The vaccinations are all better so Hinga has no more worries on that score, and if no more injuries are registered among the team, Holland will be treated to a real football match when the Grand Haven team meets. Coach Hinga has his eye on this game, and the South game will give him enough dope on the two teams "but one never can tell about that old dope bucket, she sure is kicked about some this season."

DAUGHTER OF FRANK SALSBURY MARRIES

Grand Haven Tribune—A pretty little wedding was solemnized this morning at the Congregational church when Miss Margaret Salsbury, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Salsbury, of Lake Ave., Grand Haven, became the bride of Elmer J. Westervelt. The bride, one of Grand Haven's loveliest girls, wore a beautiful gown of Chinese blue crepe and small blue hat to match. Her corsage bouquet was of bridal roses and swainsonia. Miss Angie Steveling, as bridesmaid was also gowned in blue crepe of a darker shade, and wore a corsage of tea roses. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. C. Hargrave before a small assembly of relatives and friends.

The remaining 95 per cent could in all probability be moved only at a great increase in cost and in time which is a decisive money factor in their movement.

The sugar content of the beets represents from 13 to 15 per cent of their original weight. The pulp, representing 5 to 6 per cent thereof, is desiccated and pressed and becomes a cattle and hog feed. The residual molasses, from which alcohol used to be distilled at Bay City, is not now so used, owing to the operations of the prohibition amendment. In the growing and harvesting of the beets the factories furnish fifty per cent of the labor, the farmers paying for the labor at the rate of $23 per acre. Under the contracts with the farmers the sugar companies pay for their beets on a basis determined by the market price of the product. Taking Willett & Gray's New York Market quotations for October, November and December, 1923, and January, 1924 the average price of beet sugar is arrived at for that period. If sugar prices are $6 per 100 pounds, the farmer gets $7 a ton for beets. If they are $7 per 100 pounds the farmer gets $8 a ton. A sugar price of $8 per 100 pounds brings the beet revenue up to $9 and sugar prices of $9 per 100 pounds brings beet revenue up to $10 per ton. The farmer gets $7 a ton as a minimum. If he delivers the beets to the factory himself he gets 75 cents a ton for doing it. While the Holland plant will start Monday the St. Louis plant began at least a week ago, and the Deatur, Indiana plant also belonging to the St. Louis Sugar Co., and the largest of the three started on October 15.

FRED RILL IS ACQUITTED OF MANSLAUGHTER

JURY IS OUT FOR SIX HOURS IN SAUGATUCK DROWNING CASE

Holland Witness Also Called By the Prosecution

After deliberating nearly six hours the jury in the case of Fred Rill of Chicago, a youth charged with manslaughter in connection with the drowning last July of Miss Erma Orta of Woodville, Ill., returned a verdict of not guilty in Allegan circuit court late Wednesday afternoon.

Rill, who seemed near the breaking point during the summing up of counsel and Judge O. S. Cross's lengthy charge to the jury, was visibly affected when the foreman read the findings. His friends rushed to congratulate him and the courtroom echoed with their felicitations.

The tragedy in which Miss Orta lost her life at Saugatuck on July 29 was pictured to the jury in the novel manner by the state with the introduction of the canoe in which the girl, her chum, Miss Peggie Proska; Rill and his step-brother, Frank Scherichel, were riding when it was upset, as its principal exhibit.

Step by step, the prosecutor dramatically sought to portray the events leading up to the drowning as he would have the jury see them. He declared that Rill was responsible for the overturning of the craft and that he did so in fulfillment of a threat to capture it unless Miss Proska yielded to his importunities.

On the stand Rill denied an attempt to assault Miss Proska. He said he had shifted into the bottom of the canoe and had attempted to hug and kiss her, but when he saw she did not welcome his attentions, he recovered his seat in the stern. He testified that Miss Proska stood up in the frail craft and that he had told her to sit down. He declared that she did not sit down, but stood up again soon after, tripped and capsize the canoe.

Five witnesses from Chicago materially aided the defense. All testified that Rill enjoyed a good character.

During the trial at least two Holland witnesses were called. Andrew Postma of Holland who with another Holland boy was paddling the canoe on the river, stated that he went to the girls' rescue. He stated Miss Proska was in the water but resisted his attempts at rescue, fearing it was Rill and his stepbrother, Frank Scherichel. It was not until another canoe came to the scene that Miss Proska allowed herself to be taken out of the water, Postma stated.

The third witness was Herbert Van Oort, a member of the Holland Coast Guard. He told of recovering Miss Orta's body from the river.

Miss Virginia Swanson of Chicago on the stand stated that she heard the cries of the drowning girl from her cottage on the river bank.

Attorney G. J. Diekema of Holland is assisting Prosecutor Montague of Allegan in behalf of the people.

HONOR GIRL WHO IS LEAVING FOR CHINA

Miss Helen Shaw entertained recently some thirty of her friends in honor of Miss Lois De Pree who is returning to China. It was a Halloween party and the guests, dressed appropriately in Halloween costume, serenaded the people within a radius of a couple of blocks with horns and tin cans. The company contained a fortune teller, a witch and other characters in costume. Miss Vanderfelt won the prize for the most original costume. A delightful lunch was served and Miss DePree was presented with many gifts.

STEREOPTICON LECTURE ON "MODERN PALESTINE" TO BE GIVEN ON NOV. 2

On Friday evening, Nov. 2, in Trinity Reformed church, Rev. N. Beger of Third Reformed church of Grand Rapids, will give a stereopticon lecture on "Modern Palestine." Rev. Mr. Boer has visited Palestine this spring. Ever since his return he has been giving lectures concerning his trip. A few weeks ago he gave a brief talk before the Sunday School teacher of Trinity church. It was so well received that he was immediately asked to return again and speak in the church, and give an opportunity to a larger audience to hear him. A silver offering will be received at this meeting, for missions. The lecture is given under the auspices of the Young Women's League for Service of Trinity church. The public is invited.

BRAKEMAN ON PERE MARQUETTE TA' A BRIDE

Wm. Battema and Miss Kittle Hazel Tuesday were united in marriage Tuesday evening at the residence of the Methodist church, Rev. J. C. De Cinney officiating. Mr. Battema is a brakeman on the Pere Marquette. After a short wedding journey the couple will make their home in Holland.

FORD AND FORD AND BICYCLE MIX IN COLLISION

At 5 o'clock last evening a large crowd congregated at 14th street and River avenue, when the Ford of Andrew Jalving R. F. D. No. 6, collided with the Henry touring belonging to Mr. Vander Wege of North Holland. In the collision a man with a bicycle was also mixed.

After an inventory was taken it was found that no one was hurt. However Jalving's roadster tipped over and the windshield and top were demolished.

The Vander Wege car also was badly smashed, the steering wheel and the fenders being demolished. Both Fords went to the Holleman Dewerd hospital for much needed repairs, and the bicycle too needs some doctoring.

This morning two other cars came together at the same street intersection altho the damages were slight.

SPECIAL ELECTION IN HOLLAND ON NEXT MONDAY

A week from Monday the people of Holland will be called to the polls in the various wards to pass on the proposed special sewage bonds for the building of a storm sewer to take the strain off the so-called tannery creek. The new improvement will cost $42,250. The common council has been faced by this problem for a long time and the aldermen were not willing to take it up until they could no longer avoid it. They investigated it a number of times and in the past they have often looked for other methods of solving the problem without the expenditure of the money that the building of a new storm sewer would involve, but there is no other way out and so the question has been put up to a vote of the people.

But as is often the case in such things, the people are not paying much attention to it and there seems to be grave danger that the voters will not come out to make their wishes known. Probably many voters who know that the sewer is a necessity that cannot be avoided will assume that the bond issue will pass anyway and so will not take the trouble to go to the polls. Then if others who do not see the situation in that way come out to give a negative vote, the question may be lost.

The tannery creek sewer is dangerous to life and property and the city will be compelled to spend money on it whether the bond issue passes or not. There is danger moreover that the creek in its present condition will destroy property in case of flood conditions and that might mean more damage than the price of the sewer.

City Engineer Zuidema has taken a number of photographs of the interior condition of the tannery creek sewer. Three of these will be printed in the Sentinel this week to show what condition the sewer is in so that the voters may judge for themselves.

CHIEF OF POLICE SUES OTTAWA COUNTY

Chief of Police Hansen of Muskegon is to start suit against Ottawa county to recover for damages done to his automobile near Coopersville several weeks ago. The decision to start suit was made after the Ottawa supervisors this week denied his claim of $700. The claim was reported favorably by the committee but killed on the floor.

Mr. Hansen and members of the police and fire department were on their way to Lansing to attend a meeting of the Metropolitan club. They charge there were no lights on a barricade near Coopersville and that rather than strike it, Mr. Hansen turned his car off and it upset.

WILL DEDICATE "THE MILESTONE" TO MRS. DUFFEE

The Junior class of Hope College has dedicated its annual, "The Milestone" to Mrs. Winifred H. Duffee, A. M. The class members feel that because of her many years of devoted and unselfish service as instructor and as the Dean of Women, she is deserving of this honor.

Mrs. Duffee's life here at Hope College has been one of quiet but powerful influence among the students. She has stood always for the highest religious principles and intellectual standards. Her untiring efforts have endeared her to all who know her, students and friends of the college alike.

The Junior class and the "Milestone" staff are particularly pleased to make this announcement.

SAUGATUCK CANOE TIPPING CASE ON AT ALLEGAN CIR- CUIT COURT TOMORROW

The trial of Fred Rill of Chicago on a manslaughter charge will be begun in Allegan circuit court Tuesday. Rill is held responsible for the death of Miss Erma Orta of Woodville, Ill., who was drowned while on a Kalamazoo river canoe trip the evening of July 29 near Saugatuck. Miss Froska who was with Miss Orta, but was saved, will be the chief witness against Rill in the trial.

DETROIT COLLEGE HANDS HOPE 20-0 BEATING

With a badly crippled lineup the Hope football team was forced to accept defeat at Detroit Saturday. Detroit scored a touchdown in each of the first quarters and their final score came in the fourth period and was due to a fumble. Schouten's men were in no condition to play as every man has been vaccinated. With substitutes on the line the Detroit backs had easy picking and they tore off long gains. Cunningham was their star performer and scored all their points. Vander Meer, Jonkman and Van Vleet were the bright lights in the Hope lineup. Hope plays Ferris Institute Saturday at the Waterworks Park.

The Michigan Teachers' Association will hold its annual meeting the week of Oct. 29. It was at first a custom to hold the meeting for all the districts together but since last year the meetings are held separately. The schools in Western Michigan are in District No. 4, and their meeting this year will be in Kalamazoo on Monday and Tuesday of the last week in October.

All the teachers are members of this association and it is expected that all will attend.

Mr. Riemersma of Holland High has been chosen the chairman of the High School section.

Many great and well known speakers, among whom are: Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Arctic explorer; Dr. M. S. Rice, a lecturer, and E. C. Hartwell, Superintendent of Schools at Buffalo, N. Y.

All the subjects taught are emphasized and meetings are held so that the teachers may get new ideas for the coming year.

MASOTDON TUSK IS UNEARTHED IN SALEM TOWNSHIP

John Strickfaden and Fred Palmer have unearthed a piece of ivory in Allegan county that is believed to be a piece of the tusk of an ancient prehistoric mastodon.

The mastodon tusk was found by Mr. Strickfaden and Mr. Palmer in a swamp in Salem township, 2 miles east of the old Burns Corners cemetery. A drain was being constructed through the swamp and when the tusk was discovered Mr. Palmer resolved to continue his search to determine if possible, if any more of the remains of the prehistoric beast could be discovered. It is possible that he may later organize a searching party for that purpose.

No one knows, of course, how long the tusk has lain buried in the marshy soil. One can only conjecture upon the story as to how it came to be there. Ages and ages ago, it is possible that the giant mammal became mired in the swamp and died there. It is possible that it may have been wounded in battle with some other prehistoric beast and died there. It is possible too that two mastodons, ages ago fought to death there and that further investigation may uncover the remains of two instead of one. It is further possible that some prehistoric man may have inflicted the death wound upon the beast in his search for food. No one knows how it came to be there.

It is even possible that the mastodon did not die down there in the Allegan county swamp at all, but that its great tusk was swept along with the deposits of past ages of the earth. In the glacial period from a point hundreds of miles away. No one knows the story of the ivory tusk, and no one is likely to know it.

STORAGE PLANT AT ZEELAND IS A CERTAINTY

A number of business men of Holland, Zeeland, Fennville, Saugatuck and other places in this section met in Zeeland with the purpose of formulating definite plans for a cold storage plant that has been a prospective project of the Utility Corporation at Zeeland.

At least one of the leading men of each community was present to represent his section and all pledged the united support for the efforts of the organization. It is realized that an organization of this kind needs the individual cooperation of every section that the institution is to serve.

The meeting was a very enthusiastic one and the prospects are very bright for a successful year.

SAYS HOLLAND PEOPLE ATTENDED ZEELAND CHURCHES

The Zeeland Record this week prints a long article objecting to people from Holland worshipping in the Zeeland churches last Sunday. The article is too long for reproduction in full but the first few paragraphs will give an idea of how the Zeelanders feel about it.

"If we are to accept the Christian principle that we are our 'brothers keeper' as being essential in the lives of Christians, then we have this week again witnessed another gross transgression of that very thing by a large number of people who pretend to be and who wish to be known as Christians.

"At least we cannot reconcile their acts with this profession. During the week just past the churches at Holland were closed and all public gathering forbidden because of a smallpox epidemic. But in the face of these conditions not less than three hundred persons, residents of Holland city, attended the Third Chr. Ref. church of this city alone. This is our personal estimate. How many attended other churches here from that city we do not know, but if the proportion is anywhere near the same in the other churches there must have been not less than 1500 people from the smallpox-epidemic-infested city who attended public worship in Zeeland, on last Sunday.

"The Zeeland Record believes it is speaking for a large majority of Zeeland's people when it vehemently protests against such unwarranted exposure to a dread malady by people that should know better. We hold nothing against the good people of Holland, but we think they allowed their own personal desires to have first consideration over against the welfare of a whole community, in face of the fact that they would be known as Christians. We don't believe a blessing will attend their efforts. They do not serve the Lord by spreading smallpox even though it be done in a church."

AUTO "CASH AND CARRY" PLAN IS GROWING UP

Almost unnoticed but by a natural process of evolution an automobile cash and carry plan of buying is growing up around Holland and presumably in every other city. The average farmer in the vicinity of the average city is gradually changing from a mere farmer into a combination of a farmer and merchant. Time was when the farmer came to town and peddled his products from door to door in the city. Things are changing in such a way now that the process is being reversed and the city man who owns a flivver or any other kind of a car seeks out the farmer and makes a bid for his products on the spot.

The system of buying goods direct from the farmer has grown to rather large proportions already and it is reasonable to suppose that it will increase still more. There has been no concerted effort about it. The city man with an automobile in his garage merely discovered individually that he had a means at his disposal of getting fresh vegetables and other articles of food fresh from the farm by going after them. Usually the city man wants to take a little drive anyway into the country and many have learned to combine these pleasure trips with buying expeditions.

Many a farmer in the environs of Holland has established a definite list of customers in the same way in which a merchant does this and he knows how much farm stuff he can dispose of when he sows his seed. The great advantage to the farmer is that he does not have to bother with delivering his goods and the city man finds the system advantageous because he gets his vegetables and fruits direct from the soil with no loss of flavor and freshness.

Some farmers have even gone so far as to equip places where they can serve their patrons and that kind of thing may be expected to grow as time goes on.

MUCH INTEREST BEING SHOWN IN VOTING MACHINE

The voting machine that has been installed on the ground floor of the city hall preparatory to having it used in the special sewer bonds election is attracting a good deal of attention from day to day. Almost any day citizens may be seen in front of the machine studying it and getting acquainted with it so that they will be ready to use it when the time comes.

All voters in the third ward will have a chance to test the machine in actual practice in the special election, but voters from other wards are also visiting the machine in view of the fact that it is not at all unlikely that some day Holland will be equipped with voting machines in all its wards.

The cost of furnishing all the wards in the city with such machines would probably be in the neighborhood of ten thousand or $12,000.00. A single machine costs in round numbers in the neighborhood of a thousand dollars and it is estimated that Holland would need perhaps ten of the machines to take care of all the voters. Some of the smaller wards like the second could get along with one machine, but in wards where the poll list approaches a thousand voters more than one machine would be needed. Voting on a voting machine, especially when the voters become accustomed to it, is said to go more quickly than voting by ballot. But by the ballot method there are usually five or six booths in a polling place so that many voters can cast their ballots at the same time. Only one voter can vote at one time on a voting machine, so that the operation would have to be quite a bit faster than by the old method if there is not to be congestion at certain hours of the day.

But it is estimated that almost any ward in the city could get along with two machines. The coming special election will give many voters a clear idea of how the machine works and many will be familiar enough with its practical workings to have an intelligent opinion on the merits of the machine.

COUNTY DOES NOT SUPPORT THE FARM BUREAU

In a letter to this paper County Farm Agent, C. P. Milham wishes to correct a wrong impression brought out in an article published in the Grand Haven Tribune having to do with farm bureau appropriations.

Says Mr. Milham in his letter: "Gentlemen—An article appearing in the Grand Haven Tribune of Oct. 15 conveys the wrong impression and I am sorry this article was quite generally published elsewhere.

In the first place, the Board of Supervisors did not appropriate money for the farm bureau, neither have they ever done this. Nor has the state or federal governments ever appropriated money for Farm Bureau work. There has been a great deal of misunderstanding between what constitutes the extension department of M. A. C. (of which agricultural agents' work is a part) and the Farm Bureau, which is a farmers membership organization. In the past the county Farm Bureau has been contributing to the financial support of the county agricultural agent but this summer the state administrative board ordered that this be stopped. When the matter was presented to the board of supervisors no objection was raised to the order and hereafter the county agricultural agent will be paid entirely from public funds and will be at the service of the agriculturists, village or city dwellers and all organizations.

I would be pleased to have you correct this article in the first issue of your paper. I believe it would be better if the facts were thoroughly understood.

Yours truly,
C. P. Milham, County Agr'l. Agent

LOCAL GIRLS "MAKE" IMPORTANT SOCIETY

In the list of several hundred codes at M. A. C., Lansing, the names of Miss Eleanor Miller and Miss Joan Wassenaar of Holland appear as forming the Alpha Gamma Delta. Eight different college societies passed on candidates and it has been a hectic week for the joiners, for there were several hundred "goat riders" from different parts of the state, Holland furnishing two.

CLASSES ENROLL FOR PART-TIME AT WASHINGTON

Why does Holland have a continuation or part time school? The answer is, that the state requires it for every school district having population of 5,000 or more, and having 50 or more children under seventeen years who work and have not had two years of High School.

In Holland there are 147 students who meet in the Washington school. Eight hours of vocational and academic instruction is required of each, every week. Russell Welsh is in charge of this work. He gives the boys from one factory regular schooling for one-half day and allows them to learn some trade in their factory the other half day. The next day he does the same for the boys from another factory.

Miss Christine Cappon, from the Junior High School, assists him in instructing the girls who stay at home, in home economics. She is at present teaching them sewing and very probably later will teach cooking.

Employers are required by the state law to allow their employees who are included under this provision to attend the school. Evening school may not be substituted for it.

The school is of a real advantage to those who have to work to help support families. It gives them good training and an opportunity to learn a trade. Emphasis is laid on the value of a good job.

Monday morning indicated that the frost has surely reached the pumpkin. Miss Cornelia Nettinga will sing at the Sixth Reformed church next Sunday evening.

RESORT BODY TO SPEND $100,000 TO BOOST STATE

Michigan will spend $100,000.00 a year for three years to advertise its resort section to the world. This was decided at a rousing meeting of the Michigan Tourist and Resort association in Grand Rapids Friday night. Holland's quota of this sum will be $800, and the quota for the whole of Ottawa county will be $2,500.

The Ottawa Beach hotel will furnish a separate quota of one dollar for each room in the hotel making a total of $300 for that concern. Judge J. C. Everett of Waukegan, and B. A. Mulder of Holland were named members of the appropriation committee. The delegates from this end of Ottawa county are: John Holleman of Zeeland, and the following from Holland: Ray Nies, Bert Slagh, John Van Tatenhove, Ben Mulder, H. R. Brink, H. W. Wilson, Isaac Kouw, J. C. Everett, W. C. Vandenberg, Andrew Arendshorst, Albert Dewerd, John Arendshorst, E. C. Brooks, A. C. Joldersma, and Henry De Free.

Lieut. Gov. Read, a resident of Shelby on the Western Michigan Pike held a program of rosy hopes in the beauties and natural assets of the playground country. "I was fascinated," he said, "at my first glance of Lake Michigan, and my fascination has grown rather than diminished." The hope of a paved road along the Lake Michigan shore-line, first broached by State Sen. Wm. M. Connelly of Spring Lake, found enthusiastic approval from the lieutenant governor. "In order to keep tourists in close proximity to the big lake," he declared, "we should build a road along the lake shore. I understand that construction of such a road from Holland to Grand Haven already has been urged. But it should not stop there. It should be carried north to Muskegon and from there on up the shore line."

In the report of the budget committee of which R. J. Prendergast of Grand Rapids was chairman, quotas were assigned to and accepted by all the various counties in the resort country. This more than 100 per cent increase in the funds available for the Tourist and Resort association means that next year advertising in the states of the middle-west and south will be increased immensely and as a direct result of the association's work it is expected $100,000.00 will be spent in western Michigan by the tourists and resorters.

Shall the resort season in Western Michigan become one of four months' duration instead of a season of two months? That is one of the questions was considered at the annual meeting of the Michigan Tourist and Resort Bureau meeting in Grand Rapids. It is a subject in which Holland because of its proximity to the Black Lake resorts, is deeply interested.

STARTED HALLOWEEN PRANKS TOO EARLY

Eight Grand Haven youths are in the hands of the Grand Haven police having started Halloween pranks too early. While a company of young ladies entered a cafe for a bite the "kids" proceeded to shove the motor, belonging to one of the young ladies several blocks down the street, but were caught in the act. One of the lads said that "the burg was too slow," and the object was to liven it up a bit for the bored girls.

Through the efforts of the Ladies Aid society the First Church of Zeeland, has been furnished with new electric light fixtures. The Reformed Church Hymnal has been installed and is giving great satisfaction. An addition to the church is about to fill the need for a choir room.

The Holland Canning Co., expects to finish its campaign in about ten days with one of the biggest seasons in its history. Approximately $120,000 has been disbursed to farmers and thus far about $26,000 has been paid out for labor.

George J. Bolks, 55 years old, who at one time was a prominent citizen of Zeeland, died suddenly from heart failure at his home in Spokane.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter and one son. Mr. Bolks was associated in business in his home city with the firm known as Hill, Door and Bolks.

Saturday afternoon a robbery occurred at the home of Henry Tysman on Sayton street, Grand Haven. The house was entered by an unknown man who first knocked at the door and then took out a bunch of keys, entering the home and coming out almost immediately. He was seen by neighbors. It was discovered by the Tysman family that $85 had been taken from a dresser drawer.

The registration on Saturday for the special election that is to be held next Saturday was so light that it has not been thought necessary to compile the names. In one ward there were only two names added to the poll list and in another only one. If the registration is a fair indication then the election next Monday is likely to be very light unless the voters of Holland wake up between now and election day.

The Rev. Philip Jonker, pastor of the Van Nest Church of Peekskill, N. Y., was quietly married to Ethel Maude Zeph of Peekskill, by the Rev. Archibald I. Mann at the latter's home in Yonkers, N. Y. The ceremony took place at 8 P. M., Monday, October 1. The bride and groom expect to soon sail for St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, where Mr. Jonker will have charge of the Reformed church.

For The Conservation of Western Michigan's Farm Produce

No. 1—Cold Storage Warehouse to be built on property of the late Zeeland Brick Co.—with cold storage capacity to handle the entire crops of Ottawa and Allegan Counties and surrounding districts

In Apples, Grapes, Celery, Potatoes, Butter, Eggs, Poultry, and numerous other products of the farm, the counties of Ottawa and Allegan and surrounding districts, last year, produced a volume of farm produce valued at several hundred thousand dollars.

Much of this immense crop, particularly fruit and vegetables, was wasted, due to the lack of storage facilities for holding until better markets were available, or because of deferred shipments. Some were sold at low prevailing prices, representing a tremendous economic loss to the farmers of Western Michigan. Apples, for instance, which sold during the harvest for sixty to seventy cents per hundred, just a few months later brought two to three dollars a bushel.

●The Cold Storage Plant illustrated above would have prevented this waste, and would have saved thousands of dollars in actual cash for the producers in this section of the State.

A Natural Location!

Holland and Zeeland are situated in almost the exact center of a most fertile and productive part of Western Michigan. Here, there are connections by rails and water to the principal markets in all parts of the country. It is the natural location for a cold storage warehouse catering to the wants and needs of this section.

Cold Storage Offers A Much Needed Improvement!

Handling the perishable farm produce of this section through this centrally located Cold Storage Warehouse means that much of the tremendous profits created here will be retained here — that profits which have heretofore gone to other sections, because of the facilities provided elsewhere for cold storage, will remain to aid in the development of Western Michigan.

Typical Cold Storage Room in Large Refrigerating and Cold Storage Plant

Some Possible Savings and Other Pertinent Facts!

1. Pre-cooled small fruits will bring 30 percent above field run produce of same size and quality.
2. Eggs purchased in April for 18 to 20 cents per dozen selling today in Detroit for 39c. An increase of $3.00 per case.
3. Lemons, oranges and prunes can be bought in season and be held at a 30 percent profit.
4. Statistics show that this season a Grand Rapids storage house cleared $1.25 per bushel on peaches held only thirty days.
5. Apples bought in September to November and held to Holidays will double in value.
6. Produce merchants alone will fill our proposed plant if we desire to rent all space.
7. Apple growers in nearby localities will have a chance to hold fruit until a profitable market is obtained instead of selling on a flooded market.

Education Unnecessary!

Every person engaged in growing farm produce knows that Cold Storage is the solution to the financial development of the Western Michigan farm. Evidence of this is readily to be found in the growing demand for cold storage and in the practice of growers in shipping their produce to out of the way cold storage warehouses for storage until out of season demands bring higher prices.

It is believed that the warehouse project here illustrated will adequately serve the growing cold storage needs of this section. It can be easily increased in capacity as occasion demands.

Other sections of Michigan are also making preparations for the building of cold storage warehouses to answer the demand for these accommodations in their own localities and to cover the needs of less fortunate sections which do not possess this great convenience.

We cannot afford to remain behind others in a forward movement of this nature, offering, as it does, such immediate inducements in the handling of otherwise perishable commodities, and which, in the long run, as the wealth of the district increases, will benefit individually, every property in this section of Michigan.

Who Is Back of This Project!

Every person who is familiar with farm and community development in and around Ottawa and Allegan Counties will immediately recognize in the names listed below, men who have many community development records to their credit.

Get The Facts!

NEWS-ITEM

"SAVE OR GET OUT"

Abilene, Kan., Oct. 21.—Save or get out! This is the boiled down substance of a unique thrift plan for employees operating under supervision of Cleyson L. Brown, head of the United Light, Power & Telephone Co., here.

He compels his workers to save at least 10 per cent of their wages in safely chartered investments that bring an equitable cash return.

During the first year of the plan's inauguration, employees of Brown's companies saved away more than $225,000 of their wages distributed over a variety of reliable stocks, including a 50 per cent voluntary investment of the total, in their own employing industries.

No Save, No Pay

Brown adopted the system after research proved that large numbers of his workers were losing in efficiency, because they were in debt or spent more than they earned.

To counteract this evil, the position of savings director was established in the plants, and now no employee can continue drawing his salary unless he has saved at least 10 per cent of the previous week's wages.

Under the new ruling, sums applied toward getting out of debt count as savings. So does money applied as a sinking fund against the principal of a debt on a home.

Autes Do Not Count

Sums invested in motor cars, phonographs and hope chests, or anything else which brings no cash return, are not recognized.

Q So much for the news item. In Holland Mr. Brown's policy would appear rather drastic—sort of interfering in affairs that do not concern him.

Q However putting aside this phase of the question, the results of saving are apparent and no doubt many an employe at the end of the year, way down in his heart, must have felt contented and pleased when he found laid away for him 10 percent of his wages with interest added, an amount he would ordinarily have spent.

Q It goes to show however that level headed business men and so called "Big Business" know what is good for the individual. It demonstrates that saving is the proper thing if one desires to get along in this life.

Upon interviewing the Zeeland City Health Officer on Monday evening we find that Zeeland city has thus far been exceptionally lucky in escaping epidemics of contagious diseases. The official records show that there is one case of small pox in which quarantine will be lifted in the course of another week; there is one case of scarlet fever under strict quarantine and one case of suspected diphtheria, also under quarantine. The cases are well guarded and Mr. Hietje informs us that he intends to see that these do not furnish a source of public infection. There are also seven cases of measles in Zeeland which disease it seems it has been impossible to localize.—Zeeland Record.

There will be an auction sale at 107 East 16th street on Saturday consisting of household goods, musical instruments, stoves, etc., at 2 p. m., terms to be announced at time of sale. Be sure and attend this sale as fine articles will be sold. Henry Lugers, Auctioneer.

While Ben De Koster, who lives on South Elm street, Zeeland, was shopping in Grand Rapids, his Chevrolet touring car, which was parked on East Fulton St. in that city, was stolen and no trace could be found by the police department.

PROSPECTS FOR NEW DEPOT LOOK VERY BRIGHT

Tuesday morning at 8:50, the special train containing Frank H. Alfred, president of the Pere Marquette railroad, rolled into Holland with the entire railroad staff aboard.

Mr. Alfred who with his committee is inspecting the entire system made special arrangements to meet a committee of the chamber of commerce together with a score of business men for the purpose of talking over a new depot for Holland.

This project has been expounded through the Holland press time and again, and a great deal of individual work has been done along that line for a number of years.

The committee of the chamber of commerce and the Holland business men were very much impressed with Mr. Alfred and his attitude toward this depot project. An inspection was made of the old station, the depot grounds, etc., and the president came out flat-footed, stating that Holland surely needed a new depot, and the men with him voiced the same sentiment.

His final words before parting were that he would immediately have plans and specifications drawn up of a depot building suitable to Holland's needs, and one of which Holland would not have to feel ashamed.

The Holland committee handled the situation very diplomatically, pointing out that this city had been waiting so long for a suitable passenger station, and Holland as a city beautiful, should surely have the entrance to the municipality in keeping with what lies beyond.

They pointed out that the present depot was a poor advertisement to Holland, and by the same token it did not put the road in the right light.

The committee did not dwell upon the revenues that Holland gives the Pere Marquette for Mr. Alfred is well aware that this city is one of the best feeders on the entire line.

The meeting was altogether amicable, and after the special departed all those from Holland who took part in the meeting were confident that Holland's new depot is assured, and that very soon.

Location was spoken of by the officials, among themselves and local agent E. B. Rich also had a long conference with the officials of the road.

Mr. Rich has always been a great booster for a new depot. He states that as far back as ten years he succeeded in getting some plans and specifications as a starter, but when the war came, and the road at that time went into receivership, all the plans went by the board.

Since President Alfred has been at the head of the road, the Pere Marquette has been doing well, has been pulled out of a chaotic state, and it is said that dividends are being paid.

Our impression is, since meeting Mr. Alfred, is that he is a live wire, and is capable of doing just such a thing.

The committee of the Chamber of Commerce are A. H. Landwehr, G. J. Diekmann, Mayor Stephan, Con De Pree, and Arthur Visscher. These men were backed up in the meeting by at least twenty manufacturers and merchants.

The Holland Furnace Co. has delegated Jake Fris to be the captain of a newly organized basketball team that is surely going to be heard from this winter.

At a rousing meeting held in Warm Friends' hall, some eligible timber was picked for the tryout.

"Cubby" Drew is to be coach and from all appearances within a very short time a team will be whipped in line, that will be about the best we have had in Holland for some time.

The new quint will go all over the state according to the contemplated schedule, and several dates will also be held open for Holland.

One of the members of the team is going to be "Cappy" Cappon, former U. of M. football star, while others are Leonard Kule, who in his high school days was an all state forward.

Garry De Jonge who played 4 years with Hope, and was an all state guard. Everett Flikkett proved to be an all state forward of the state of Iowa; Fred Sietema, the lanky forward from Zeeland; Jimmy Klomparsen, Peter Prins, Ray Nykamp former high school and Hope stars are also in the lineup; Dr. Heasley, four years on M. A. C. and two years as captain is also on the eligible list, together with Bud Hinga, coach at Holland high, who has all state forward playing four years at Kalamazoo college; Marvin Stegenda, both a basketball star at Holland high and also at Kalamazoo Normal; Marsh Irving who has been a Holland high star for a good many years, and Hub Ingham, also a former star at Holland High.

The above is a partial lineup of the eligibles. Surely a remarkable bunch to select a quintet from.

Mrs. G. J. Van Duren, of the local chapter of the Red Cross, has received word that on November 10th a speech of President Coolidge will be broadcasted. On that date the President will give an address in connection with the opening of the Red Cross drive and the local fans will tune up their little old radios they may listen in and hear the President speak.

There will be other features on the program, among them a song by Mme. Schumann-Heink and also numbers by other internationally known musicians.

CHARGE WOMAN WITH BREAKING OF QUARANTINE

Soon after the beginning of the small pox epidemic it was announced by the health department and the city administration at one of the joint meetings that are being held almost daily that the breaking of quarantine would be followed by the swearing out of a warrant, which warrant would be served as soon as the quarantine was lifted. The warning was given that people could expect no mercy because of the fact that there was illness in the family but that the cases of that kind would be prosecuted to the limit.

In accordance with this policy a warrant has been sworn out by City Inspector Henry S. Bosch against Mrs. Jennie Spoelstra, 17 West 14th street. There is a scarlet fever in the Spoelstra home, and Mrs. Spoelstra is charged in the warrant with breaking quarantine after she had been specifically warned by the city inspector in person that prosecution would follow if anyone was allowed to enter the home from the outside or if any member of the family left the premises.

On October 19, according to the warrant, Mrs. Spoelstra left the premises, going into the street to buy butter milk from the passing butter milk wagon. Mr. Bosch and his helpers are keeping a close watch most of the time on the quarantined homes and in this case Mr. Bosch himself was a witness to the breaking of the quarantine. The warrant was consequently sworn out and Mrs. Spoelstra will have to stand trial as soon as the quarantine is lifted.

A policy of that kind may seem cold blooded, but it is pointed out by the health department that it is in reality a policy of genuine mercy. It is the people who deliberately break the quarantine, endangering the lives of others, who are cold-blooded. The enforcement of the quarantine regulations is looked upon as a life and death matter and all violations will be followed by prosecution to the limit of the law, it is once more announced.

Five Holland educators are on the program of the fourth district convention of the Michigan State Teachers' association, when 5,000 school men and women meet at Kalamazoo Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 29-30.

When the English section meets at Western State Normal Monday afternoon Prof. John B. Nykerk of Hope College will speak on "What We Mean by Teaching Literature." The history section, presided over by Prof. Mith Burnham of Western State Normal, will be addressed by Prof. Wynand Wichers of Hope College on "High School History from the College Viewpoint." John J. Riemersma principal of the Holland High school is chairman of the high school section, and Mattie Dekker of Holland is chairman of the section on education of the subnormal. Mrs. E. J. Whitman is a discussion leader in the elementary principals' section.

Kalamazoo is reported making extensive plans for entertainment of the 5,000 and officers of the convention expect the greatest M. S. T. A. gathering ever held. All buildings and facilities of Western Normal will be at the disposal of the delegates for the two days. It will be the largest of six district conventions being held about the state.

GRAND HAVEN ELKS AID SALVATION ARMY

Although no request was made by the Salvation Army for funds, the Grand Haven Lodge of Elks, No. 1203 at the annual Roll Call Monday night donated $100 for the special needs of the Army in county work. This was the amount of the request made to the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors last week by the Salvation Army. Although the board of supervisors passed appropriations about the state, the request for $100 to be used in county work by the Salvation Army was denied by the narrow margin of one vote.

Members of the Elks brought the matter up in meeting and the sentiment was strongly opposed to the board's action and in favor of a donation of $100 to the Salvation Army in lieu of the amount denied by the supervisors. This is in addition to the regular contributions of the lodge in support of the Salvation Army.

The Grand Haven Elks lodge observed their annual roll call Tuesday night. The festivities began with a fine dinner served at 6:30. The program was enlivened by a concert by the newly organized Elks band, which promises to become one of the best organizations in western Michigan.

A total of 96 members of the lodge responded to the roll call, and Burt Pant, Exalted Ruler, presided over the informal program. Excellent impromptu talks were made by William Harper and J. Vander Vorn.

HORSE BURNS DURING FIRE ON WAVERLY ROAD

A large barn owned by William Klumpel on the Waverly road near Grand Haven, burned, the fire starting in the hay just above the horse stable from an unknown cause.

The blaze was discovered about 4 o'clock and an alarm was turned in to the fire department. The truck and police car from Grand Haven responded and a bucket brigade augmented by a fire extinguisher battalion was used to check the fire so that it would not spread to surrounding farm buildings. The barn was the only building burned.

Just as the blaze was making headway, a badly singed skunk came out of the barn and then returned and was seen no more. Mr. Klumpel had one horse burn to death, it being impossible to get it out of the building because of the intense heat over the stable. Some farm wagons and machinery were also burned.

It is believed that the fire started in the hay over the stable though it was stated that the hay was well seasoned, thus precluding the possibility of spontaneous combustion. The fire department left the scene of the blaze shortly after 5, after it had been brought under control. A great many spectators were on hand to watch the fire despite the drizzle that fell continually.

Bartley then analyzed the sister-in-law. He said he felt sure she was hiding something, for she had not been frank in telling what she knew, and seemed anxious to get him out of the house. Whether what she was withholding concerned Slyke's death or not he could not tell; but whatever it was, he was determined to discover it.

"Do you remember, Pelt," he asked, "that Currie told us she runs a ouija board? There is nothing startling in that; thousands are doing the same thing. Since the war all forms of spiritualism have made hundreds of converts. When she met King at the door this morning, she told him that the board had spelled 'trouble' the night before."

I stared at him in astonishment. He seemed to be regarding a ouija board seriously. He saw my look and chuckled.

"Oh, I'm not interested in the ouija board itself; what I am interested in is that word 'trouble' that it spelled out for her."

This was more astonishing still, and I asked, "Why, you haven't any faith in those things, have you?"

Again he chuckled, then became serious. "Sure I have, but not in the way you think. The messages people think come from another world, come from the subconscious minds of the persons who are fooling with the ouija board."

"But that does not actually prove that she knows anything about his death," I suggested.

Bartley turned quickly and glanced at me to see if I was serious. Seeing that I was, he explained: "I don't say that it does. The ouija board performances and the dreams were before his death, not after it. Of course, the fact that the dog did not bark throws suspicion on everyone that was in the house at the time."

He was silent for a while, glancing thoughtfully out of the window, and then resumed his story.

After I left him, he had locked himself in the tower for over an hour and gone over the two rooms and the balcony almost inch by inch. The only thing that had escaped us in our first search, he said, was a small stopper, the end covered with red wax. He was not sure whether the finding of the stopper meant anything or not. His second examination had made him more positive than ever that Slyke had been murdered, and that the murderer wished his death to appear to be suicide.

It would be almost impossible to make a jury believe that it was murder on the slight evidence that we had, and I said as much to Bartley. He agreed with me, and admitted he would not be surprised if King, as coroner, brought in a verdict of suicide. I pondered on this a while; then a thought struck me.

"Suppose, after all, he did kill himself, Bartley. You base your theory of murder on the position of the bedclothes and the way the gun was held. Suppose he did kill himself, and some other person, not the murderer, came into the room and pulled the bedclothes up around his neck."

He shook his head in denial. "We would still have, Pelt," he said with a rather sarcastic smile, "the other questions to be answered. First, we would ask how the blood-stains got on the balcony of the tower. We would also want to know why the hand did not grasp the gun as tightly as it should. Then we would demand to know why there was no blood on the pillow where his head rested. It won't do. There is no doubt of it. He was killed."

I interrupted to ask if, as Miss Potter admitted, she had closed his eyes, why she might not have been also the one who pulled the bedclothes up around his neck.

Bartley replied, "It is true that she did close his eyes, but she insists she touched nothing else."

"But," I broke in, "what was her real reason for doing it?"

"She said, you remember, that the eyes frightened her. Let a nervous woman come suddenly upon a dead body and it is very possible that the eyes staring at her might so frighten her that she would close them. Her confession cleared up a point that bothered me. The accounting for the eyes being closed does not prove that he committed suicide, however. There is little enough evidence one way or another, but what there is points to murder and to nothing else."

"There is another thing," I said. "Why was the revolver taken from him while we were upstairs? It seems a very foolish thing to have done. Who did it? Was it the butler or Miss Potter?"

Both the butler and Miss Potter had been out of the tower room. Bartley reminded me, for some time before we suspected Slyke's death was murder and not suicide. As to who had taken the revolver, it was impossible to say as yet. If we believed that the butler had seen Briffure on the stairs while we were on the balcony, then he might be the one. The finding of the gun in the vault and his appearance almost immediately afterward seemed to point to him. Whoever had done it had been very foolish.

The next matter that he spoke about did not seem to have any relation with what had preceded it. It was the robbery of the year before. He had learned from the step-daughter Ruth that she had not positively identified the men now in jail, but had thought that one of the men was similar in height and build to one of the men she had seen in the room. The room had been too dark for her to see very clearly. Nor was that all that she had told him which had disagreed with the accounts of the burglary that Rogers had given us. He had said that she had aroused Slyke and told him that burglars were downstairs; while in her story to Bartley she stated that, after she heard the noise in the living room, she went to the door of Slyke's room to call him, but found it empty. When she saw him he was standing on the lower step of the stairs leading to the living room. There had evidently been a struggle, and a gun went off just before she reached him. It was she who had called the police, and Slyke had opposed her doing so "as nothing had been taken."

"You see how it looks, Pelt," he said with a grin. "Slyke did not want the police in at all. He did not wish any action taken, either then or later. He was nearer the men than anyone else, yet he swore he could not identify them. That makes me believe that he knew who they were and did not want the matter looked into."

"Did the girl tell you who found that piece of paper?" I asked.

"She said it was the chauffeur who had called their attention to it. The police do not seem to have made any search that night, or in fact until noon the next day. Then, with the help of the chauffeur and the butler, they searched the living room, and he chauffeur directed their attention to a piece of paper lying on the floor, half under a rug. Of course, you see what that leads to. For hours that room had been unguarded, and any one who wished could have gone in there. Even the piece of cloth was not found for several days, strangely enough; nor did the police find the footprints under the window until three days later, although they claimed they had searched the spot before."

I broke in with, "That looks, in other words, as if—"

"As if some one wished to send those men to jail," he finished for me. He sighed, gave a little laugh, and remarked: "There are at least three things I would like to know. First, was the robbery a plant?"

"A plant?" I asked, looking at him in wonder.

"Yes! There may have been no robbery at all."

COMMON COUNCIL

Holland, Mich., October 17, 1923.

The Common Council met in regular session and was called to order by the Mayor.

Present: Mayor Stephan, Alds. Blue, Keis, Drinkwater, Brieve, Laeppe, Kammeraad, Sprang and Vander Hill, and the Clerk.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

PETITIONS AND ACCOUNTS

The Ottawa Iron & Metal Co. petitioned for permission to engage in the business of junk dealer in second hand goods at 190 E. 8th St., and presented bond as required with O. P. Kramer and C. Blom, Jr., as sureties.

Bond and sureties approved and license granted.

Albert Ver Hoef petitioned to come under the Compulsory Sewer Ordinance.

Granted.

Clerk presented the following communication from H. J. Glover & Son:

"We wish to call your attention to the fact that we are now on Columbia Ave., starting at 19th Street, which street we will complete from 19th to 4th St. This year, your Mayor and Engineer promised to turn this street over to us with all city work completed and out of the way by Oct. 15, 1923. A sewer is being laid in this street from 20th to 4th St. We feel this sewer and curb is going to hold us up in the work progress faster than we anticipate and we can complete our entire job in time before winter weather sets in. Our contention is as follows:

"First: Should we be held up on account of sewer and curb work now being done, and as it will take us a large time to carry this work over next year, on account of your holding us up, we respectfully ask your Council to cancel that part of our contract from 19th to 24th St. providing weather conditions will allow us to complete this work and to include same in your next year's paving program."

"Second: We hereby request of you, providing we can not complete this work in question, that you and your Honorable body do not retain the 15 per cent on Columbia Ave., but pay us in full for all work from 19th to 4th Street."

"Third: It is our aim to do all in our power to complete entire contract, but we wish to clean up this year, to allow us to take on other work which may be allotted to us and therefore cannot have our equipment tied up here next year in Holland for five blocks of work which tie up is not our fault."

Referred to the Committee on Streets and Crosswalks.

Geo. Kronmeyer applied for license of engineer in the business of operating motor buses in the City of Holland with the Peoples Auto Co., Inc., as a terminal, and designated Gerrit Molenaar and P. De Gode, Jr., as proposed conductors on the bond to be executed to the City of Holland, and presented signatures of interested citizens petitioning that such license be granted.

Referred to the Committee on Licenses.

Clerk presented the following communication from the Automatic Registering Machine Co.:

"Confirming the verbal proposition which we made recently, we hereby offer the use of one of our voting machines in the special election to be held on October 29, without charge or obligation on the part of the City."

"The only condition that we make is that we be permitted, following the use of the machine by the inhabitants of the City to construct a main surface drainage sewer in Pine Avenue, South of Thirteenth Street where 'Tannery Creek,' so-called, intersects said Pine Avenue, northward to Black Lake."

Referred to the Committee on Streets and Crosswalks.

Clerk presented Warrant Deeds for the portion of that part of 27th St. between Central and College Avenues from the Frank Briffure Estate, H. S. S. Miles and wife, P. T. Miles and wife and Carl Kuhlman and wife.

On motion of Ald. Blue, the several deeds were read and ordered recorded.

Peter Cronk and others petitioned for the installation of a fire alarm box at the corner of 11th and Van Ralte Ave.

Referred to the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners.

F. Underwood petitioned for permission to connect the floor drain of the Bottling Works to be built at First Ave. and Lake St. with the storm sewer.

Referred to the Committee on Sewers, Drains and Water Courses.

Clerk presented a communication from the Michigan Railway Co. stating that it was their intention to reconstruct the way which they find it necessary for the convenient operation of their cars at the city limit and to request that the matter be referred to the Committee on Streets and Crosswalks in order that arrangements may be made for the necessary rebuilding of the way.

Referred to the Committee on Streets and Crosswalks with power to act.

LOCAL

Officer Zweerenga and Deputy Sheriff Vander West searched the automobile of Dick De Boer, employed at the Western Foundry and found two bottles of whiskey that he had transported from his farm north of the city to his place of employment.

When arrested De Boer showed fight but that was taken out of him and he was arraigned before Justice Brusse who bound him over to circuit court on $500 bail.

Burglars entered the home of Theodore Kuiper, 214 West 15th St., and stole some thirty dollars in bills and change while the Kuiper family were at church Sunday morning.

The burglars gained access to the house by the rear basement window and apparently knew just where this money was located.

Chief Van Ry states that the department is working on some clues which may lead to the arrest of some guilty parties.

Jack Knoll, the Holland barber who has been in many difficulties before and who was sent to the county jail for thirty days on the charge of drunkenness, was committed to the Ionia prison by Judge Cross for from two to five years. When Knoll was convicted on the charge of stealing money from his former employer, Casper Belt, he gave the man another chance, placing him on probation. The recent drunken brawl indicates that Knoll will not behave, so the judge gave him the original sentence intended for stealing, he having violated his probation.

The music store in Zeeland which during the past five years has been conducted under the name of Prum's Music House, was this week sold to Dirk Huyser who will take immediate possession and will conduct the business under the name of the Zeeland Music Shop.

The store will be conducted by Mr. Huyser and his daughter, Miss Amy who has been in the employ at the store for the past eight months.

Mr. Prum will spend his time between his stores at Holland, Grand Haven and Grand Rapids. He will however keep his residence in Zeeland where he had been actively engaged in business for the past thirty years.

Mrs. James Nagelkerk, nee, Wilhelmina Van Costen, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Peter Roels in Zeeland at the age of 88 years. She is survived by five sons and three daughters.

Mrs. Nagelkerk held the distinction of being the oldest resident in Zeeland. She came to America in 1894 and after residing in Grand Rapids one year she came to Zeeland where she has been a resident since. Twenty years ago her husband died after which time she lived with her children.

Holland will be interested in several conventions that are coming to Grand Rapids within the near future, in fact this city will have representation at practically every one of them.

Seven conventions are booked for the Furniture City during the remainder of the year. They include the State Sunday School association, November 6 to 8; Michigan State Florists' association, same dates; Michigan Implement Dealers' association and Michigan State Horticultural society, November 20 to 24, in connection with the apple and potato show; Michigan Furniture Warehouse association, December 1 and 2; Michigan Ice Industries association, December 4 and 5, and the third, fourth, fifth and tenth districts of the Michigan Dental society, December 7 and 8.

The W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. DeMerell, 64 E. 9th St. The devotional was in charge of Mrs. J. P. Heemstra. The musical program, in charge of Mrs. P. H. Doan, was as follows: vocal solos, "A Little Road Through Nazareth," and "Ah, I Have Sighed to Rest Me," by Mr. Theodore Luidens, accompanied by Miss Ethel Luidens; piano solo, Miss Eva Clark; Mrs. Wayer spoke on "Shall America Go Back?" and Mrs. Whitman's subject was "Our Local Government."

Tea was served by Mesdames Rich, Gross and Cobb.

The next meeting will be the annual reception, Nov. 2, at the Methodist church. This will be an evening meeting when the Union will entertain the teachers of the public schools and other guests.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Jonker, 144 E. 16th street celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary Friday evening, surrounded by thirty friends who came to congratulate them on this auspicious occasion.

The couple were wed by the late Rev. E. Vander Vries, at that time a pastor of the Central Avenue Christian Reformed church.

A program had been arranged for and was in charge of Mr. George Schuurman, and consisted of the following numbers: remarks, Mr. Geo. Schuurman; vocal solo, Mrs. N. E. Esenbergh with violin obligato by Miss Jeanette Jonker, Mrs. S. Houting accompanied on the piano. A short talk on friendship by Rev. John Van Feurgem of Zeeland; monologue, Miss Evelyn Van Dyke; congratulatory remarks, Mr. Peter Schoon; duet, Mrs. Van Feursem and Mrs. N. E. Esenbergh; congratulatory remarks, Rev. C. P. Dame; Miss Margaret Schuurman very pleasingly recited a poem written by her mother, Mrs. G. Schuurman, which portrayed in rhyme, a short historic sketch of the wedded life of Mr. and Mrs. Jonker.

The happy couple were the recipients of a beautiful end table and lamp.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonker have been blessed with five children all of whom are living.

The evening's festivities closed with elaborate refreshments.

At the annual Red Cross convention held in Detroit, Hon. G. J. Diekema of Holland was appointed the Fifth District member of the newly created Michigan State Council of the Red Cross. The council, the creation of which was the principal business of the convention, is composed of sixteen members, one from each congressional district in the state and three officers. The council will meet four times a year to discuss Red Cross affairs in Michigan and they will also hold an annual meeting.

Mrs. G. J. Van Duren and Mrs. Mc Nett were the Ottawa delegates to the Detroit convention, returning home Friday night. In addition to the state council question many other matters, such as compensation, hospitalization, public health, life saving, and the annual roll call, were discussed. The recent questionnaire was pronounced a success.

Although the whole of Holland is paving program for this year is not likely to be completed this fall, a part of Columbia avenue remaining unfinished, that part of the program that is completed will prove to be a very satisfactory street, according to Alderman N. Kammeraad, chairman of the street committee. Mr. Kammeraad does not claim to be an expert on the quality of asphalt and the opinion he expressed was not based on his own judgment of the work done, but on the opinion of experts who examined the streets so far finished.

The streets and crosswalks committee is in general charge of the paving projects and they see to it so far as possible that all the clauses in the contract with the paving company are carried out. They protect the interests of the property owners and do what they can to expedite the work, employing experts to see to it that the quality of the asphalt and of the stone base is such that the street will stand up under the traffic that is put on it.

And according to the opinion of these experts, the streets that were built in Holland this summer will prove a credit to the city.

Mrs. Martha D. Kollen returned on Saturday from Detroit where she had been for the week attending the 29th annual convention of the Michigan State Federation of Women's clubs.

There were more than 1000 club women present and of the number 600 came as official delegates. Besides presiding over Wednesday's session Mrs. Kollen was on Thursday morning's program speaking on the subject "Side Issues." On Wednesday morning Mrs. Kollen, as president of the West Central district of Michigan, submitted her report together with other presidents from other states.

The convention went into session Tuesday morning and deliberated until Friday noon of last week, sessions being held morning, afternoon and evening.

The social calendar for the week as well as the convention program, was a full one. Tuesday officers of the state and local federations, district presidents and heads of executive groups, were entertained at the Detroit Yacht club. Departmental luncheons were given for the delegates Wednesday and Thursday, and on Wednesday the Fine Arts Department entertained the guests at tea at the Art Institute.

A dinner for past presidents of the state federation was given at the Hotel Statler Wednesday evening, and was followed by a program and reception at the Federation Clubhouse. Two plays, "Uncle Jimmie," by Zona Gale, and "For Distinguished Service," by Florence Clay Knox, were presented by members of the Detroit Federation. The closing event of the week was a ride through the city as the guests of Detroit members.

The Holland fair directors will make an earnest attempt to beat the bad weather that at next year's fair. During the last few years the fair has almost invariably had bad weather during at least part of the fair. No matter how the dates were shifted about in September, the Holland fair almost invariably drew a day or two of rain.

At a meeting of the fair directors held Thursday evening it was decided to hold the fair in August next year to see if that will give a week of bright days. There are sometimes periods of rain in August also, but as a rule the weather is more even in that month than in September. So the dates next year will be August 19, 20, 21, and 22.

Secretary Arendshorst Thursday night gave a tentative report of this year's fair. He reported that the gross receipts for 1923 were $17,535.40. Because of the decision of the fair directors to eliminate paddle wheels the association sustained a loss of $1,275.35 in receipts for concessions, comparing the receipts of this year with those of 1922.

Permanent improvements consisting of wire fences, additional grandstand, toilets, a new office building called for an expenditure of $6,500. This entire amount cannot be met on account of loss in receipts due to weather conditions and other causes, but the fair shows a profit of approximately $3000.

The new dates will mean that the fair will have from two to fifteen thousand resorters to draw on for its patronage. During other years the resorters had left when the fair was held. Also, school children will be able to go oftener than before.

The earlier date may mean a smaller display of fruits and vegetables but in all other respects the exhibits will Miss Dora Schermer, Holland City librarian, has been in Kalamazoo the past few days attending the annual meeting of the Michigan State Library association. The local librarian went to the gathering to get into intimate touch with the men and women who are presiding over the libraries of the Michigan cities, with a view of reflecting in her work in Holland many of the ideas brought out at the convention.

For some years the Michigan State Library association has been gradually getting ready for a radical advance in library work in Michigan. Samuel H. Ranck, of Grand Rapids, and H. L. Wheeler, of the Muskegon library, have been leaders in this movement in Western Michigan. They are being backed up by librarians from other parts of the state.

The plan of the librarians is to establish a system in Michigan that shall extend the same library privileges to the people in the rural districts that are now being enjoyed by the people of the cities. A definite step toward that end was taken in Muskegon county a day or two ago when Mr. Wheeler of the Hackley Public library asked the board of supervisors of that county to extend the library service to the rural districts. Such a radical change cannot be brought about in a day or two and the Muskegon solons have asked for time in which to consider the matter, but it will be brot up again at the January meeting.

Sooner or later it is likely that all boards of supervisors will have to face the same problem. Many rural communities are demanding the library facilities of the cities. Now that almost every rural inhabitant has a car the distance between farm and city has been eliminated and the people in the country are demanding some of the advantages of the cities. And library extension is one of the problems the state library association is working on.

Albert Harrington of Grand Rapids and George Jacques of Saginaw were arrested at Wayland Sunday night in Allegan county by Sheriff Hare and Deputy Robin on a charge of alleged possession of liquor. The pair are now in jail.

CONCERT DATE IS CHANGED FOR THE THIRD TIME

Dr. J. B. Nykerk, in charge of the Hope College Lecture course is having his troubles on account of the postponement of the Marshall concert. A few days ago the announcement was made that the concert would be given late in November. Today Dr. Nykerk received a wire from Harrison & Harshbarger, managers of the Marshall tour, that the only available date is Friday, Oct. 26.

This will make the Marshall concert the first number of the course, the Raymond Robins' lecture coming four days later. The sale of season tickets will continue until a day or two before Oct. 26. It was announced today that single admission tickets for the Marshall concert would be $2, $3, and $4. Mr. Marshall will be supported by three first class artists, a fine contralto, a violinist of national reputation and a fine pianist.

YEGGS AT COOPERSVILLE SCARED FROM A "HAUL" OF $15000 BY BAKER

COOPERSVILLE, OCT. 19.—Fifteen thousand dollars in currency and negotiable securities was saved early on Thursday morning, when John Van Wingerden, a baker frightened off four yeggmen about to crack the safe in the Coopersville State bank.

Van Wingerden was passing the bank on the way to work in his bakery, when two men, armed, told him to stick up his hands. Instead he ran summoning Deputy Sheriff Bussis from the Interurban station. When the two men, with several others, returned to the bank a few minutes later, the yeggs had fled.

A complete outfit of tools for cracking a safe was found in the bank. The combination of the safe had been knocked off.

The yeggs were thought by officers to be the bandits who looted a bank at Cedar Springs not long ago.

PROPOSED LATERAL SEWER

Cherry Street, B. between Central and Michigan Avenues

City of Holland.

City Clerk's Office, October 6, 1923

Notice is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Holland, at a session held Wednesday, October 3, 1923, adopted the following resolutions:

Resolved, That a lateral sewer be constructed in Cherry street, between Central and Michigan Avenues; that said lateral sewer be laid at the depth and grade and of the dimensions prescribed in the diagram, plan and profile, and in the same manner required by the specifications for same provisionally adopted by the common council of the city of Holland, October 3, 1923, and now on file in the office of the clerk, and that the cost of and expense of constructing such lateral sewer fund of said city and partly by special assessment upon the lands, lots and premises of private property owners abutting upon said part of Cherry street, and being adjacent to said lateral sewer, and such other lands, lots, and premises as herein required and specified assessed according to the estimated benefits thereto determined as follows: Total estimated cost of lateral sewer, $11,722.36.

Amount to be raised by special assessment on private property according to estimated benefits received, $1,522.03.

Amount to be paid from the general sewer fund, $250.33.

That the lands, lots and premises upon which said special assessment shall be levied, shall include all the private lands, lots and premises, lying within the special assessment district designated by a red line in the diagram and plat of said district by the common council in connection with the construction of the sewers, all of which private lands, lots and premises are hereby designated and declared to constitute a special sewer district to defray that part of the cost and expense of constructing a lateral sewer in said part of said street in the manner hereinbefore set forth and as heretofore determined by the common council, said district to be known and designated as Cherry Street Special Sewer Assessment District.

Resolved, Further, that the city clerk be instructed to give notice of the proposed construction of said lateral sewer, and of the special assessment to be made, to defray that part of the expense of constructing such sewer, according to diagram, plan and estimate on file in the office of the city clerk, and of the district to be assessed therefore, by publication in the Holland City News for two weeks and that Wednesday, November 7, 1923, at 7:30 p. m., be and is hereby determined as the time when the Common Council and the Board of Public Works will meet at the council rooms to consider any suggestions or objections that may be made to the construction of said lateral sewer, to said assessment and assessment district, and to said diagram, plat and estimate.

LOCALS

According to the report of the Michigan department of health there were 197 births and 55 deaths during the first seven months of the year 1923 in Grand Haven, Mich. In Holland during the same period there were 193 births and 51 deaths.

The Ladies Guild of Grace church will hold a rummage sale in the Stella building near the tower clock on Friday and Saturday, October 26 and 27.

A teacher in a Spring Lake township school has issued a complaint against Philip Machek for disturbing a school room. The complaint was made under the school law. Trial will be held in justice court next week.

Joe Koolker of the George H. Huizinga Jewelry Co. is in Chicago on business.

Wm. C. Vandenberg is in Milwaukee on business.

Jack Knoll the local barber was taken to Ionia yesterday by one of the sheriff's force.

Isaac Kouw of Holland has been selected as one of the Traverse jury in Federal court. This jury tries all government cases, after the Grand jury has passed on those arrested and true bills have been issued.

There has been some delay in securing the copper front to the new Geo. H. Huizinga Jewelry Emporium on East 8th street. The interior of the building is complete waiting for the front. Joe Koolker has been conducting a sale preparatory to moving which has proved an exceptional success, and because of the delay, the jewelry sale will be continued for about six days more, and until such a time as moving can begin.

UTILITY COLD

STORAGE COMPANY

FINDS FAVOR

Plans are well under way towards the developing of a new cold storage plant to be built on the brickyard property between Holland and Zeeland.

M. Hoffman, together with several Zeeland men, and also business men from Holland, Muskegon and Saugatuck who are developing this industry, speaks in the highest terms of this new enterprise and what it is going to mean to Ottawa and Allegan counties.

Mr. Hoffman stated that the small plant operated in Zeeland has shown a profit today exceeding 18 per cent on the investment. Mr. Hoffman states further that a well organized, well equipped modern plant such as is contemplated with the necessary side tracks already on the ground, and with a building containing all the conveniences, and all the uses that a storage plant is put to, cannot help but bring handsome returns to the investors.

He stated that the present organization is composed of men of Holland, Zeeland, Muskegon and Saugatuck, who have to their credit the establishing one of the finest poultry establishments in the state. Many of these same men have been active the past year on this cold storage project, proving its worth by first starting on a small scale.

The same organization has now been strengthened by soliciting the help of leading fruit dealers of Saugatuck and Fennville, with not a little Holland and Zeeland capital added.

Mr. Hoffman feels that the expansion of this business on the Zeeland-Holland highway at the brick-yard will be the salvation of farming in these parts.

At a recent meeting held, Mr. Miller of the Viltus Ice Cream Co., of Milwaukee, Mr. Hoffman stated, brot out some facts as to what a cold storage plant really meant to a farming community.

Mr. Miller stated that the industry was still in its infancy, but wherever cold storage had been tried out, such a plant was not only a profitable investment to the investors, but is the saving grace to a farmer who had produce in the way of poultry, fruit eggs and other commodities to store at a time when the market was flat and very unprofitable, until such a time when the same farmer could get an honest return on the products of his farm.

Mr. Hoffman also relates the story of the creamery and packing companies of Chicago, showing the possibilities of a cold storage plant there.

It is shown that a cherry crop might have been spoiled but for cold storage and by virtue of the cold storage all the cherries were pitted and stored until the holidays, when the entire consignment was sold to bakers at a fancy price and they were used to advantage in Christmas baked goods.

Mr. Hoffman went into detail as to the great advantages that can be obtained in the storage of eggs, giving many instances where an overproduction of eggs in the egg season depressed the market to such an extent that often the farmer was money out. He paralleled this instance, showing that this same farmer after using the cold storage method was exceedingly pleased with the returns on the low priced eggs later in the season, which but for the cold storage, he would have been compelled to sell below the cost of production.

The fact that the plant is to be erected on the Zeeland Brick Co's property brings the new enterprise in the very center of the egg district between Holland Zeeland, which cannot help but mean business for the new concern.

The men who are sponsoring the Utility Cold Storage Co. are the following: Frank Dyke, Holland; John Moeke, Zeeland; M. Hoffman, Zeeland; Benj. Tellman, Muskegon; N. P. Heeres, Muskegon; George Albers, Holland; Edw. House, Saugatuck; James Kanera, Saugatuck; C. W. Green, Fennville; Albert Krone-meyer, Holland; Henry Baron, Zeeland; George Glupker, Zeeland; Benj. Hoffman, Morrison, Ill.; Bernard De Witt, Zeeland; Peter Broekstra, Holland; John Glupker, Holland; J. N. Clark, Zeeland.

DUCKS TAKE WET

ROAD FOR A LAKE;

DIVE; 100 ARE DEAD

Presumably mistaking a wet concrete pavement for a body of water, more than 100 wild ducks broke their necks after diving from a great height near Champaign, Ill. They were found by tourists strewn along the roadside.

The pavement was wet from a drizzling rain and lighted occasionally by the moon shining through the broken clouds.

The incident recalls a similar one six years ago, when a flock of ducks crashed through the glass top of a greenhouse in that vicinity.

PROGRAM FOR

MARSHALL CONCERT

IS ANNOUNCED

Dr. J. B. Nykerk Wednesday received the program that is to be given by the Charles Marshall Co., when that musical organization appears in Holland to give the first number of the Hope College Lecture course. Dr. Nykerk requests that the audience remain seated at the conclusion of the last number on the program. The last number will be given by Mr. Marshall himself and by remaining seated until the very end an encore can be secured from the great tenor.

The members of the company are: Mr. Marshall, dramatic tenor; Ethel Jones, contralto; Harold Ayres, violinist; and Violet Martins, accompanist. The program is as follows: Life and Death.....Coleridge-Taylor The Last Hour.....Kramer Dreamland.....Stearns Retreat.....

Song of the Open.....La Forge Gavotte.....Bach Hills.....Burlingh Aucassin and Nicolette.....Kreiser Polonaise.....Wienlawski

COMMITTEE HAS SET FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2 FOR THE KOLLEN RECEPTION

The committee who have in charge the reception for Mrs. Martha Kollen have decided that the event will be given in the Masonic Temple at 8 o'clock on Friday evening, November 2, to which the public is cordially invited.

The affair is informal as Mrs. Kollen would like to meet all in the city who are interested in the new park. The park board together with the mayor and common council have the plans and specifications ready and it is only fitting to submit these at the same time and Mrs. Kollen has requested that since this park is everyone's park, the general public is entitled to know what the future has in store.

Further announcement of the program will be made at a later date.

HERE IS ANOTHER WAY TO WIN A GAME BEFORE IT IS PLAYED

Gr. Haven's next opponents, Muskegon Heights, were swamped Saturday by Holland, the final score being 18 to 0. Holland played minus six regulars. Muskegon Heights played a good game but Coach Hinga's men were far too strong for the Heights crew. Muskegon Heights beat Fremont 15 to 0 and Grand Haven beat local 61 to 0. This gives the local a dope edge of 46 points on Muskegon Heights and 16 points on Holland. Grand Haven Tribune. No doubt this is the way Grand Haven figures a victory for itself as far as the coming Holland High game is concerned. "But there's many a slip."

COMMUNITY WAS STIRRED UP ABOUT A SLANDER CASE

Practically the whole of the community of Rusk was in court in Holland Tuesday when L. D. Taylor was placed on trial in Justice Brusse's court on the charge of criminal slander.

The case was brought against Mr. Taylor by John Hirdes and Cornelius Boersma, young men of Rusk, and the entire community came to town to hear the case fought out in court.

Beginning in the morning, with the arguments opening at noon, the case lasted until seven o'clock at night. After having been out for about half an hour the jury brought in a verdict of no cause for action, thus freeing Taylor of the charge lodged against him.

The case was full of fireworks and a considerable number of witnesses were called on both sides. Mr. Taylor was said by the witnesses to have accused Hirdes and Boersma of stealing watermelons from his farm. This the young men resented and they proved quite conclusively in court that they had stolen no watermelons. The evidence also showed quite conclusively that Taylor had accused them of it. But the jury seems not to have taken the matter as seriously as it was taken by the principals and seems to have felt Taylor, who is a poor man and who has suffered a great deal from marauders who took his melons, should not be burdened with a fine and costs.

The jury was composed of Bernard Klefer, Nick Hoffman, T. DenUyl, Alvah Arnold, John Bos and Earl Johnson. Attorney Fred T. Miles represented Hirdes and Boersma, while Attorney Charles Misner of Grand Haven appeared for the defendant. The trial was held before Justice Wm. Brusse.

Holland's new $350,000 Junior high school building is getting to such a stage of construction that it is possible to see about what the building will look like when it is completed. Most of the shell of the building has been completed, and although the scaffolding is still there to obstruct a clear view of it, the beautiful lines of the building stand out even under those conditions. The new school bids fair to be a credit to the city and will probably be one of the finest school buildings in this part of the state. The construction is the most modern and the latest ideas in school construction have been built into it.

A part of the building will be occupied beginning the first of January. According to present plans, the print shop, the gymnasium, and the manual training shop will be ready for occupancy by the beginning of the new year, and the equipment will be moved into the rooms at that time. By using these rooms the congestion in the high school building will be materially relieved, and the whole educational system will be easier to handle. The schools have been rather crowded during the present semester but teachers and pupils are bearing with it cheerfully, knowing that relief is in sight and by the beginning of the year there will be more room for all.

The entire building will be completed, according to present indications, some time before the end of the school year, but it is not likely that it will be possible to move into it until September of 1924. Moving into the building in the middle of a term would create considerable confusion and would interfere with the regular work, so it is not likely that the move will be made till September.

The local Masons since they have their new temple are to use it to the fullest extent for other things than masonry.

The Royal Holland Bell Ringers proved such a great success that the spacious hall, one of the largest in the city, is to be utilized for similar entertainments in the future.

Future dates as advertised by the Masons are the Halloween dance on the evening of October 30.
